

Webinar

Societal Impact in Research Management and Governance

AESIS

NETWORK FOR
ADVANCING & EVALUATING THE SOCIETAL IMPACT OF SCIENCE

novonordisk
fonden
Benefiting people and society

Achieving impact of scientific knowledge and data is not the sole responsibility of the researchers themselves. In fact, achieving impact requires an inclusive and supportive ecosystem that encompasses a range of facilities, policies, skills and management practices.

To explore this topic further, we have invited three experts who will delve into what role university managers, funders, and policymakers should and can play in enabling impact. This free webinar hopes to shed light on how we can collectively drive greater impact from scientific research and data.

Webinar overview

March 14th

16.00 CET

3 guest speakers

75 minutes

Free of charge

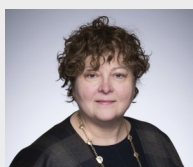

Webinar Programme

16.00 Words of welcome

Anika Duut van Goor Director of AESIS, The Netherlands

16.05 Individual presentations by invited speakers

Research for Societal Impact: SSHRC's Story

Sylvie A. Lamoureux
Vice-President, Research, Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada

Sub-topics:

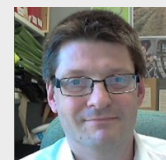

- Societal Impact and Funding Opportunities
- Beyond Knowledge Mobilization
- An Inclusive Research Ecosystem

Sylvie Lamoureux (Order of Ontario), joined SSHRC as vice-president, Research, in January 2023, where she provides strategic leadership for the development, implementation and promotion of the vision and direction of social sciences and humanities and tri-agency federal research funding programming. Sylvie served as Associate Vice-Provost, Graduate and Postdoctoral Studies at the University of Ottawa, and held various Vice-Dean portfolios in the Faculty of Arts. An accomplished scholar, she was named to the second cohort of the Royal Society of Canada's College of New Scholars, Artists and Scientists in 2015, the same year she was elected to the Order of Ontario.

Research Impact is a Team Game

Simon Kerridge has been a research manager and administrator for over 30 years, and is now an independent consultant. He previously led the research office at the University of Kent where he has had responsibility for all aspects of the research support including pre-award, post-award, information, strategy, assessment and governance. He has recently finished working as a panel advisor for Research England as part of the UK Research Excellence Framework, supporting the Social Sciences panel, including the assessment of Impact. Simon is also a board member of EARMA.

Simon Kerridge
Principal Consultant, Kerridge Research Consulting, UK.

Sub-topics:

- The importance of research culture for impact: a UK Perspective
- Incentives and the avoidance of perverse incentives

Moving toward an impact-driven university

Igor Campillo
Executive Director, Euskampus Fundazioa, Spain

Sub-topics:

- Bringing about transformation
- Institutional Strategy for Impact
- Impact awareness, literacy and readiness

Igor Campillo has a PhD in Physics from the University of the Basque Country, and a Master in Journalism and Science Communication from the Spanish Open University. Igor Campillo is currently the Executive Director of Euskampus Fundazioa, created by the University of the Basque Country (UPV/EHU), Tecnalia Corporation and the Donostia International Physics Center (DIPC). He is co-author of more than 70 international scientific publications indexed in the Web of Knowledge and co-author of 3 patents extended to several countries (Europe, USA and China).

16.50 Debate and Q&A